

Clinical SOAP Note

Patient ID: derived_from_context_or_unknown

Generated at: 2026-01-14T04:45:04.814516 UTC

Subjective

Chief Complaint: Patient reports persistent headaches and nausea.

History of Present Illness: The patient has been experiencing headaches for the past two weeks, typically at the end of the day, along with occasional nausea. These symptoms began after starting a new job with increased stress levels.

Emotional State: Patient appears anxious and reports feeling overwhelmed by work responsibilities.

Objective

Observations: The patient appears tired and has mild tension in the neck area.

Risk Factors: Stress, Possible dehydration

Assessment

Summary: The patient likely suffers from tension headaches potentially exacerbated by stress and inadequate hydration.

Differential Diagnosis: Tension headache, Migraine, Stress-related disorders

Plan

Immediate Actions: Advise patient to increase water intake and take regular breaks during work to reduce stress.

Recommendations: Consider implementing relaxation techniques; follow-up in two weeks to reassess symptoms.